Deal in works to sell Hayti elementary

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

One year after Hayti Elementary School was closed, members of the Romulus Board of Education now have an opportunity to sell the building for $259,000.

Paul Weller of Weller Auto and Truck Parts has offered to purchase the Beverly Road building if soil tests and a rezoning request for the site are successful.

School board members say they have their own stipulations. Weller must agree to host polling places at the building through Dec. 31, 1990.

Board members are also requiring Weller to obtain rezoning approval within the next 90 days. If he cannot win approval, the deal will be off, they said.

Superintendent Dr. William Bedell said the time frame was established because the district cannot accept other offers while they have a commitment to Weller.

If the sale goes through, Romulus Community Schools would receive $243,460 after payment of a 6-percent commission.

Last year at this time, Hayti students were saying goodbye to their school. School officials in March 1989 made the controversial decision to close the building because of declining student enrollments and financial difficulties.

Dating back to the 1940s, Hayti was the oldest operating elementary school in the district when it closed.

Since that time, the district financial committee has received two offers for Hayti.

The United States Child Care Institute offered to rent the facility for one year at $3,000 per month with an option to purchase.

The option called for a two-year land contract at $2,142 per month after a down payment of $30,000. The contract would call for a balloon payment after two years for the remainder of the $250,000 offer.

Bedell said the financial committee recommended the Weller offer, a cash deal for more money.

Few surprises found in election results

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

The final count at the city clerk's office shows Mary King and Edward Wilkerson will each serve four more years on the Romulus Board of Education.

Clerk's office representatives said 447 people voted in the June 11 election. Registered to vote were 13,849 people.

Incumbent Wilkerson received 348 votes and veteran board member King received 350.

In addition, two "write-ins" received support.

Nine votes went to City Assessor Matthew Raftary.

Resident James Bennett received three votes.

For Romulus voters in the Wayne-Westland school district, an unofficial count Tuesday revealed the proposed millage issue was turned down by 6,251 to 4,379.

Wayne-Westland school officials had presented a single issue including a 4.9-mill increase, a 2.75-mill renewal and a rollback of the Headlee Amendment.

Presenting this package to voters for the second time, school officials said before the election failure to approve the millage increase would result in serious cutbacks for the schools.

Field fire frustrates Romulus firefighters

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus firefighters spent five hours Monday night battling a fire blazing from a pile of tires in a field near Van Born and Howell roads.

Witnesses to the fire said the flames and smoke could be seen for miles.

"We had quite a mess there," said Romulus Fire Chief William Greenslait.

The fire may have been set by trespassers on the county-owned property, possibly children, Greenslait said. Scraps of building material there could have easily been used to start the flames, he added.

Firefighters were called to the scene at 7 p.m.

When they arrived, Greenslait said, traffic was backed up in the surrounding area because of the thick smoke and gawkers.

Firefighters extinguished the visible flames with water shuttled in from a nearby source. The department hoses were not long enough to extend to the nearest pump and the fire in the field, Greenslait said.

After the visible flames were out, four Department of Public Works staff members used a front end loader to move the tires to another part of the field. Then they covered the tires with sand to smother the remaining fire.

Ground is broken for local court expansion

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Retired Judge James Stone was the first to dig in his shovel Monday morning during ground-breaking ceremonies for the 34th District Court expansion.

When complete, the 11,000-square-foot addition will contain two new courtrooms, judges chambers, enlarged public restrooms and holding cells at an approximate cost of $1.05 million.

Host community Romulus will finance the expansion with revenues from the court operating expense fund. The city will be responsible for payments of $135,000 during the next 15 years.

"This is not being passed on to the property taxpayers," said Romulus City Treasurer James Napiorkowski. "The people who break the law will fund it."

Napiorkowski said the expense fund is made up of court fines contributed regularly to the city.

Other communities served by the 34th District Court are Belleville and the townships of Huron, Sumpter and Van Buren.

The expansion project began one year ago when judges

Henry Zaborowski and William Szlinis came before Romulus City Council to describe a steadily increasing case load and the need for a third judge.

State officials had already agreed the staff increase was needed, the judges said.

A ceremonial shovel was passed among Romulus and Belleville officials Monday morning during ground-breaking ceremonies for the 34th District Court expansion. Present was retired Judge James Stone.

Teen clinic off to slow, steady start

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Members of the Romulus Adolescent Health Advisory Council moved ahead cautiously with summer plans June 7.

Members of the advisory committee had to switch gears earlier this spring when the teen health clinic they researched and planned for two years opened in Romulus Senior High School.

The Romulus Adolescent Health Center is open to Romulus youth ages 11 to 19. Clinic services range from general physical exams, counseling and substance abuse education to gynecological services and pregnancy testing. Funding comes from a grant through the Michigan Department of Public Health. Overseeing the clinic and the advisory committee is the Romulus board of education.

Currently, the committee is preparing for the summer and attempting to identify early glitches in clinic procedures.

The summer itinerary features several grant applications, policy and procedure refinement, development of personnel policies and fund raising.

As committee members reviewed these plans at the meeting Thursday they appeared very conscious of criticism the clinic received during planning when a group of local parents claimed such a facility would undermine their authority.

Some of the parents expressed concerns the clinic would become a direct or indirect source of birth-control prescriptions and abortion referrals. They claim the district should be more concerned with promoting abstinence.

Health center representatives maintain birth-control devices and abortions or abortion referrals cannot be dispensed from the center.

Dr. Natalia Tanner, part-time clinic physician, said she is concerned about a different perception of the clinic. Students tend to see it as a dispensary or drop-in center, she said, a place to go with a headache or jammed finger.

"They don't see it as a comprehensive health care facility," she said.

Tanner later suggested a series of cooperative programs with the schools to provide health education and promote the clinic. Among her suggestions was a health column in the student newspaper. She agreed to supervise the students who tackle the project.

An activity summary for the clinic suggests students are utilizing the clinic, but the patient list is developing slowly.

Between the April 26 clinic opening and June 1, 34 visits were recorded. Services rendered include health promotion and risk reduction, one patient; immunizations, five patients; sexually transmitted disease diagnosis and treatment, one patient; general medical care, 27 patients.

The referral count listed four for mental health services and one for prenatal and postpartum care.

Project Director Kate Conway said she anticipates a steady increase of patients as word about clinic services spreads. Already, she said, approximately 150 parents have submitted signed permission slips. No minor can be treated at the clinic without one.

Conway said the average time for most clinics to "take hold" in a community is two-and-a-half years.

"It takes time. We have to build trust," she said.

Because the clinic recently gained a physician's assistant, it will be open five days a week, Conway added.

The facility will be available to students who received written requests from the district for immunizations or physicals.

Romulus graduate tells students never to give up their dreams

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Richard Moore was 16 when he made two promises to himself. He swore he would earn his first million by age 25, and he would be worth $1 billion five years later.

At 25, Moore is part-owner of a national cable installation chain. He achieved the first part of his goal.

The former Romulus resident said he now wants to encourage other young people to work to make their dreams come true.

"I have a saying. You can have anything you want as long as you're willing to work for it. And they don't teach that in school."

Moore said he hopes to aim his message at students leaving high school. It was when he was a student, a student who was frequently in trouble, that Moore set his goals.

"I remember the day I decided. My high school sweetheart broke up with me. She said I wasn't going anywhere."

Moore went home that day and started watching television. He saw commercials for nice cars, nice clothes, the "good life."

"It hit me right there. If I wanted those things I would have to make it happen. I knew I wanted to be successful."

When he graduated in 1983, Moore had begun to tell others about his dreams of wealth. Usually reactions were skeptical.

"People would say, 'Yea, right, sure you are.'"

His first step, Moore decided, would be more education.

"Right after high school I went right into the military," he said. "I wanted to go through college, but I wanted to do it on my own."

As an Army recruit, Moore was offered a college scholarship, but soon he discovered a full-time military career allowed little time for lecture halls.

An impatient Moore then looked to real estate as a possible step toward his goal.

He purchased rental properties, sticking to purchases that required little or no money down. By the time he left the Army, Moore had made 80 purchases and was ready to hire someone to help him manage his acquisitions.

From real estate, Moore moved into the growing field of cable television, establishing an installation company in Romulus.

"I didn't enjoy selling real estate," he said. "I kind of wanted to buy everything."

As a Romulus installer, Moore soon ran across a powerful competitor. Advanced Communications, Inc. was already installing for most companies in Southeast Michigan, Moore said, including those in Wayne and Romulus.

Eventually, Moore went to work for ACI. When company officials last October decided to establish a California office, Moore was sent as a regional managing officer and partner in the company.

Moore said the momentum of cable television will help him reach his second goal, $1 billion.

"Everybody wants cable these days. We have people who call for cable before they get their phones hooked up," he said. "Soon we'll see a fiber optic line in the home. It will do everything - cable, the phone, electric meters, fire alarms. Basically, the whole country will be rewired."

Moore said his investments in cable have become a major portion of his assets along with his $500,000 Southern California home, an antique collection and a rare Corvette.

Richard Moore (above) said his friends and family told him he was crazy when he described dreams of success and wealth. Now, the 25-year-old former resident can boast of partial owner-ship in a national cable installation company. ANP photo by Werner Slocum/staff photographer

Council eyes revised sidewalk ordinance

By FLORENCE MEEKS

Amendments to the city sidewalk ordinance are awaiting final approval from Romulus City Council.

Councilmembers OK'd the changes unanimously last week during a first reading.

The revisions mainly benefit future developers who were required by the original ordinance to construct sidewalks on their property for site-plan approval.

Developers now have two options in addition to sidewalk construction.

First, the planning commission during site-plan review could accept payment for sidewalks instead of a promise to construct them. The money would be placed in an escrow account and used when city officials decide sidewalks are needed.

Meagher said the account could only be used for sidewalk construction. Payments by developers would be based on estimated sidewalk costs. Interest earned on those payments would remain in the account to cover inflation.

If the account did not contain enough money to cover a future construction cost, the city would subsidize it.

When this change was brought before councilmembers at an April 16 study session, several suggested a contract option. Developers in areas where sidewalks are not needed would sign a written agreement with the city. When Romulus officials decide sidewalks are needed, the developer would be responsible for construction. If the developer does not comply, a lien would be placed against that property to cover construction costs.

Councilmember Fred Junior

Block said at the study session most people would rather handle their own money instead of entrusting it to the city in an escrow account.

Meagher did not include the contract amendment in the revision.

All of the ordinance amendments were based on recommendations from the city planning commission.

Local man is charged in assault of child

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

A 47-year-old Romulus man faces four counts of second-degree criminal sexual conduct charges.

George Wysocki was arraigned June 7 at the 34th District Court in Romulus before Judge Henry Zaborowski.

Wysocki was able to post bond, which was set at $10,000, cash.

The defendant was scheduled to appear in court June 13 for his preliminary examination.

Romulus police officials said Wysocki was arrested June 7 after several months of investigation.

Police based the investigation on complaints from a local 7-year-old boy who came to the police with his parents in April.

The minor is reportedly an acquaintance of the defendant, police said.

Plans in the works to install train gates

Plans are under way to install train-activated sensor gates at railroad crossings near Eureka and Pennsylvania roads.

The project was discussed by Romulus Department of Public Works officials James Panos and Melvin Zilka and building department Director David Paul along with representatives from Huron Township, CSX Railroad and subsidiary Total Distribution Services.

CSX officials also said a repair report will soon be released to the city regarding crossings at Grant, Northline, Eureka and Pennsylvania roads.

Big present

Members of the Romulus Kiwanis Club presented the Romulus Historical Society with a check for $550 last week. Legislators to debate clean air bills

By RANDY FRANK
ANP Staff Writer

Congressman William D. Ford (D-Taylor) will be a conferee as U.S. representatives and senators negotiate differences in their various Clean Air Act bills.

Ford, co-sponsor of the House version of the Clean Air Act, will seek to preserve the House version and have it accepted by the joint conference committee where both bills are awaiting further action.

Ford has hopes that an agreement will be reached before the August congressional recess, according to Ford's assistant, Ross Essenberey.

Ford, Essenberey said, provided an amendment (in the House version of the legislation) which would give additional unemployment compensation benefits, training and employment search and relocation benefits to workers who lose their jobs because of provisions in the new Clean Air Act.

William D. Ford

"I'll try to keep the stronger House version intact in our conference with the Senate," Ford said.

He said the new plan is similar to the Trade Adjustment Assistance program.

According to Essenberey, the Clean Air Act calls for every area of the country to comply with newly established air pollution goals. The goals range from three years to 20 years, he said.

Every area of the country, including southeastern Michigan, is expected to make progress in meeting these goals.

The major provisions of the act attack the acid rain, automobile and fossil-fuel waste emission problems.

The new Clean Air Act aims to reduce the fossil-fuel waste generated from burning coal by 10 million tons, Essenberey said, and would require the installation of scrubbers in smokestacks.

The sulfur emitted from utilities burning coal, which produces electricity, is a major cause of acid rain, Essenberey said.

Proposed law would call for large percentage reductions of hydrocarbon emissions from automobiles.

The House version of the Clean Air Act calls for a 12-percent reduction of hydrocarbon emissions during the course of the 1995 through 1999 car model years, according to Essenberey.

Hydrocarbon automobile emissions would be reduced by 24 percent starting in the year 2000, Essenberey said.

"The final bill will also require the auto companies to sell 150,000 alternative-fuel use cars per year from 1994 to 1996 and 300,000 per year beginning in the year 2000," he said.

Alternative fuels used in automobiles could be electricity, methanol, ethanol and propane, Essenberey said.

Although this provision may seem stringent, it's not as strict as the original Waxman (D-Los Angeles) amendment which called for auto companies to sell one million alternative-fuel cars starting in 1994. He said this amendment was compromised in the Senate.

Ford has praised the leadership role of friend and Chairman of the Energy and Commerce Committee John D. Dingell (D-Trenton) in pushing H.R. Bill 330 through the House of Representatives.

"The Clean Air Act w... (the House) passed," Ford said, "should meet the desires of residents of the 15th District who have expressed their concerns about the environment to me."

"I hope we'll get the Clean Air Act to the White House soon. The Congress, and the President, on behalf of the American people have ordered drastic changes in the way many of our industries operate. We have made those changes for the benefit of the American people and entire Earth," Ford said.

Suburbs seek equal jail space

Before the new Wayne County jail facility opens, area law enforcement officials are taking steps to ensure that space will be available to house their misdemeanor prisoners.

John Santomauro, Canton Township public safety director, reported to members of the Conference of Western Wayne that "committed space" has been negotiated.

An agreement for allocated space has been approved by the Wayne County Detention Committee and the Western Wayne Chiefs Association, Santomauro said. It calls for an allocation of 50 percent of the slots to be allocated for misdemeanor prisoners and sets a list of priorities for allocated space in the new jail.

Santomauro, who represented the WWCA at the June 8 meeting, said the agreement was not an ideal one, but negotiators "worked out the best deal they could" for the out-county communities.

According to the guidelines, 360 beds will be allocated for misdemeanor prisoners with one-half of those slated for use by Detroit and the remaining 50 percent for other Wayne County communities.

Allocation of space in the new Wayne County jail facility will be made following the guidelines establishing nine categories:

- Category One, persons convicted of contempt;
- Category Two, alternate workforce violators from the county or other work force programs;
- Category Three, pretrial violent felons;
- Category Four, pretrial property felons with a history of arrests;
- Category Five, misdemeanor allotment;
- Category Six, pretrial property felons;
- Category Seven, sentenced felons;
- Category Eight, sentenced misdemeanants other than those included in the allotment, and
- Category Nine, pretrial misdemeanants other than those included in the allotment.

Hosts sought for exchange students

Exchange students from France, Spain and Germany are seeking host families in the area through the NACEL Cultural Exchange program.

The visitors — boys, girls and chaperones — will be here from July 2 to July 29 and from July 29 to Aug. 25.

French students are from the south and southwest area of France as well as from Paris, and visitors from Spain are from Madrid, Barcelona and northern Spain. Twenty-five German students, from Munich and Stuttgart and other areas in Germany, are expected to arrive for the second visit session.

Details about the prospective visitors are available to ensure that the student and host family are compatible, said Poker-winski.

For further information, contact the area representative at 461-0989.

Legislative forum is set

State legislators and, perhaps, a visit from the governor, will highlight the July 13 legislative forum sponsored by the Conference of Western Wayne.

The July 13 event, which will be hosted by Dearborn Mayor Michael Guido, will take the place of the monthly meeting of the Conference of Western Wayne.

CWW Executive Director Daniel Gilmartin said topics of concern to the 17 member communities will be on the agenda of the 9 a.m. meeting which will be conducted at the Dearborn Inn.

An issues survey, conducted by the CWW earlier this year, revealed a high level of interest in the following subjects:

- Increased programs and funding for drug education;
- Concern about increases in property assessments;
- Solid waste, recycling and composting issues;
- Future sewer needs, and
- Need for increased transportation for seniors and the handicapped.

Gilmartin said Gov. James Blanchard had expressed an interest in attending the forum, but has not made a formal commitment to attend.

Dr. Washington is Chief of Cardio-Vascular Surgery at Oakwood Hospital, Dearborn. He is a clinical instructor in surgery at Wayne State University School of Medicine and maintains a private practice in cardio-vascular surgery in Troy.

OPEN HEART SURGERY — MORE COMMON THAN YOU THINK

By Bruce C. Washington, M.D.

Open heart valve surgery and open heart bypass surgery are major medical advances that save lives and improve the quality of life.

Many people think of open heart surgery as something done only in a life or death situation. Although some of these surgeries are emergencies, most are planned. They follow extensive diagnostic work which often includes stress testing and cardiac catheterization.

More than 200,000 people undergo open heart surgery each year. It is now one of the most common operations. Hundreds of open heart surgeries have been performed at Oakwood Hospital with excellent results.

There is no age limitation on bypass surgery. The majority of patients are over 70, and Oakwood recently performed a bypass operation on an 89-year-old patient.

Open heart surgery may be done to repair or replace a heart valve. Mechanical valves made of titanium and carbon, or porcine valves, taken from the aorta of a pig, are used.

Bypass open heart surgery is done to increase blood flow beyond blocked sections of coronary arteries. Blockages are usually caused by atherosclerosis, or hardening of the arteries. An artery from the chest wall or section of a vein, usually from the patient's leg, is used to replace the blocked artery to the heart.

Both types of open heart surgery are performed by highly specialized teams of experts which include the surgeons, an anesthesiologist, a nurse clinician to assist the surgeons, surgical nurses and two technicians who run the heart-lung bypass machine.

Open heart surgery is part of Oakwood Hospital's comprehensive treatment of heart problems.

New director is tapped

A new solid waste coordinator has been named by the Conference of Western Wayne. CWW members approved the contract to hire Jeanna Paluzzi, a former environmental planner, at the June 8 meeting. She will fill the post which was left vacant when former coordinator Sandy Altschul resigned.

Paluzzi, a 1982 graduate of Michigan State University, has completed graduate work in land use law and public investment analysis. She is currently enrolled in civil engineering courses at Lawrence Technological University.

The new coordinator worked as an environmental planner for the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments in 1989 and 1990. She is a member of the Air and Waste Management Association, Michigan Association of Environmental Professionals.

Opinion

Clean Air Act negotiations are productive

Legislators are in the midst of negotiations concerning various Clean Air Act bills.

The legislation calls for stiff penalties for companies failing to comply with various environmental regulations regarding acid rain, automobile fuel and fossil-fuel waste emissions.

Some of the goals of the legislative package are to force industry to make advances in the area of emissions, especially the automobile companies.

While most U.S. automakers are deeply involved in research to help alleviate the pollution problems posed by currently used fuels, this legislation will force automakers to make expensive investments to achieve these goals. The proposal calls for a 24-percent reduction in hydrocarbon automobile emissions by the year 2000, and would require automakers to sell 150,000 alternative-fueled cars from 1994 to 1996 and 300,000 per year beginning in 2000.

Utility companies are also hard hit by the proposed legislation.

Congressmen William D. Ford has been a supporter of this legislation, but he has added some relief to those who, at the most basic level, may be affected most by the legislation.

The amendment, introduced by Ford, calls for additional unemployment compensation provisions for those workers who may be displaced as a result of the legislation.

The Clean Air Act is critical to the survival of our planet. Dangerous emissions continue to eat away at the protective layer surrounding the Earth.

But making such drastic steps in a short period of time may prove to cause the greatest hardship for employees who are put out of work as a result.

Therefore, we support Ford's amendment to the package, and hope that legislators across the country will see the value in the entire package as it is currently being discussed.

Local voters say no taxes, what is next?

Voters in the Wayne-Westland and Belleville school districts voted down millage increases Monday.

The school districts now find themselves in dire straits. Budgets have been trimmed to the bone, teachers are without work, students are without athletic and music programs, and there will be no new books or supplies.

There are just a few options now.

The first and most important is a unified effort to fight for equitable funding of education at the state level. The time has passed for procrastination and disinterest, children's futures are at stake. Residents must write to their legislators, and to all state lawmakers, to demand fair funding of schools. Legislators have passed the buck once too often.

Secondly, the cuts are made and it is time to live within the financial restrictions set. To keep some programs alive for students, and to provide them with much needed educational resources the help of volunteers and concerned citizens is needed.

Never before have parent organizations, booster clubs, and the like, had such an awesome responsibility thrust upon them. Helpers could be put to use in the classrooms and on the playing field. They can be the link to keeping young people interested in education.

The voters have spoken, and nothing can be done to change that now. So let us move forward and work toward a single goal - a better education for the young people of Wayne County.

Handgun law makes sense

In response to your article "Proposed law would make world safer," dated May 24, 1990, I agree with Senator Faust introducing legislation that would make it a felony for adults, if children became accessible to improperly stored handguns.

The National Rifle Association would probably block this legislation, but surely if gun dealers were made to sell locked boxes and trigger locks with all guns, The National Rifle Association would then work with legislators to enforce the law.

Finally, I believe legislation could go one step further by ensuring that these requirements are fulfilled before furnishing a gun permit by asking for proof, maybe an identification tag which when punched into the computer would correspond with a locked box and trigger lock, the person would then have complied with the law and have maintained a safe environment for children.

Forum was well planned

On Tuesday, May 29, the League of Women Voters held a forum for the Plymouth-Canton school board candidates. Having participated in three of these forums, I can say with some experience that this year's was probably the most intellectual and the one most attended. Also, the emotionally charged attacks common in the past seem to have subsided... almost. Almost, that is, except for the twisted misrepresentation made by one candidate referring to an alleged statement made by a "CBE candidate."

According to this candidate, a "CBE candidate" said that it is acceptable to harass, intimidate and threaten supporters of other candidates. Since I was participating in the discussion where this statement was supposedly made, I can tell with certainty, words were twisted and fabricated to the point that the meaning was changed 180 degrees.

Since I am considered a "CBE candidate" I am calling for public retraction and apology. It is naive to expect anyone would approve of such tactics, and make such a statement.

Hopefully this candidate will give greater regard to the truth in the future. The public has a difficult enough time discerning the truth without blatant untruths being spouted.

Complaint falls on deaf ears

Imagine if you will, driving down a suburban street with nothing on your mind but the days past events when out of the seemingly empty sky comes a white sphere or imagine if you will five little children chasing that little sphere.

That event happens daily on

Hunter Street right here in Westland. It seems that the way that the hard ball diamond at Jaycees Park was designed that most of the foul balls end up out of the playing field and either onto Hunter Street or across the street and onto the homeowners property. Numerous calls to the parks and recreation department to rectify this situation have fallen on deaf ears. My last conversation with the director ended after him stating that they had already spent $4,000 to try to correct the problem and that seemed like enough to do the job. It didn't.

I ask how many $4,000 funerals does he expect to pay before something is done? I ask how many $4,000 accidents does he expect to pay before something is done? I ask how many windows or doors does he have to replace before something is done? I ask how many children have to be mauled by dogs in homeowners back yards because children are retrieving baseballs before something is done?

Teach children responsibility

Re article "Abortion issue has many sides"

The issues addressed in this article bring numerous thoughts to mind. What is basically given attention to are many societal problems which took a long time to create and will take extreme effort to cure.

A primary consideration should be given to teaching children to accept responsibility for their actions. The home is the place to start. Unfortunately, too many times this is overlooked.

The present educational system has done little to help young people understand what is expected of them either. Within too many public schools the importance of abstinence is not stressed. Along with teen health centers and like programs, the value-free, no-moral-judgment attitude prevails. Society, it seems, is afraid to say "NO" to young people, and young people continue to do what they feel rather than making sound judgments.

For some time now I have been an active participant and supporter of CRISIS PREGNANCY AID CENTER, located at 21415 Goddard in Taylor (374-0520). This center provides many services to those who find themselves confronted with a crisis pregnancy. These services include: material needs for mother and child, free pregnancy tests, arrange for financial assistance, arrange for live-in accommodations, help in continuing school or job, makes available community resources, offers adoption info, offers furnishings to set up housekeeping and more. Millage defeat

Area voters deal high school sports in Belleville, Wayne setback

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Voters in the Van Buren and Wayne-Westland school districts on Monday dealt high school sports a setback. They rejected tax increases that school officials deemed crucial to restore and maintain varsity sports for the 1990-91 school year.

At present, Van Buren students must 'pay to play' varsity athletics. Each participating athlete must pay $250 for each sport he or she intends to participate in order to support the program.

In Wayne-Westland, where athletes have not been faced in the past with the burden of helping to finance sports, have that additional obstacle to look forward to in the future.

Wayne-Westland school officials said they are considering to implement a 'pay to play' program next fall that has become common practice to Van Buren prep athletes over recent years.

In the meantime, school officials are analyzing the results of Monday's returns to determine whether they will return the millage proposals to the electorate at a future date.

"It's really disappointing," said Michael Colletta, Belleville le High athletic director, commenting upon Monday's results. "I don't know if our program will survive after this."

"There are so many questions to be answered, and the board (of education) will have to do that."

Colletta said that the members of the coaching staff "have been performing little miracles to field teams."

"I have nothing but admiration for this staff. They have these obstacles placed in front of them and they're doing the best they can to overcome them."

Colletta said that he didn't know whether the board would resubmit its request for additional millage.

Regional duel: Belleville ousted

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Livonia Franklin's junior pitcher Jenny Mayle accomplished what few pitchers have been able to do over the years against Belleville High.

The young hurler turned in a one-hit gem and shut out the Tigers, 2-0, in the first-round of a Class A regional softball game staged Saturday at Memorial Field in Wyandotte.

Belleville, which has won two state titles and five district crowns over the past two decades, ended its season with a 19-11 record.

Patriots of Livonia advanced to the championship round where they met and defeated Trenton 8-3 to qualify for the quarterfinal round of the state playoffs.

"She was tough," said Belleville coach Peggy Curtis, referring to Mayle, who was working on a coveted no-hitter until the seventh.

In that eventful last inning, Linda Pasek stroked a double to left center with two-away to ruin Mayle's bid for the no-hitter. Mayle got out of trouble and into the victory column when she got Jennifer Adkins to ground out for the third and final out of the game.

Livonia Franklin emerged with a seven-hit assault against losing pitcher Dawn Rochowiak, who gave up a pair of earned runs. The Patriots scored in the bottom of the second, then added an insurance run in the next inning - enough to win the first round matchup.

Rochowiak walked two and notched an equal number of strikeouts in her final appearance on the mound this season.

Curtis said she is pleased with what her young team - the Tigers are losing only one regular to graduation this year - accomplished.

"From where we started to where we ended, we made a lot of progress," said Curtis, who brought the curtains down on her 12th season as

Wolverine 'A' coaches pick all-star team

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Vince Sacco, who batted a hefty .508 and kept the Tigers of Belleville in the thick of the Wolverine 'A' Conference baseball title hunt, was one of three Belleville players nominated for the coveted all-conference team.

Sacco, a 6-0, 200-pound senior who clubbed five homers and two triples, finished with 22 runs batted in.

A very dedicated baseball player, Sacco is joined on the mythical all-league squad by teammates Jeremy Ison and Mike Gentz. "Sacco is a very dedicated ball player whose goal is to play professional baseball one day," said Belleville coach John Bertz. "There are no doubts in my mind he has the potential to make it into the pro ranks."

Ison, considered the best athlete on the 1990 Tiger club, batted .365 in his senior year. He had a couple of homers, a triple and seven doubles that helped produce 11 RBI.

Ison and Sacco are all-around athletes. They also earned all-area stripes as members of the Associated Newspapers' football team last year.

Baserunners didn't steal on Gentz, whose strong and accurate arm made them think twice before taking a big lead off of the bag. The Belleville backstop finished his second year with the team with a .305 batting average. He had four doubles and 14 runs batted in.

Belleville finished third in the final conference standings. The Tigers were 12-7-1 on the year. Southgate Anderson and Trenton surfaced as heirs to the Belleville conference throne after Wayne Memorial fell apart in the stretch.

Orr nets athletic accolades

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Tyron Orr's outstanding credentials in baseball has earned the senior Inkster infielder a berth on the 1990 Suburban Athletic Conference team.

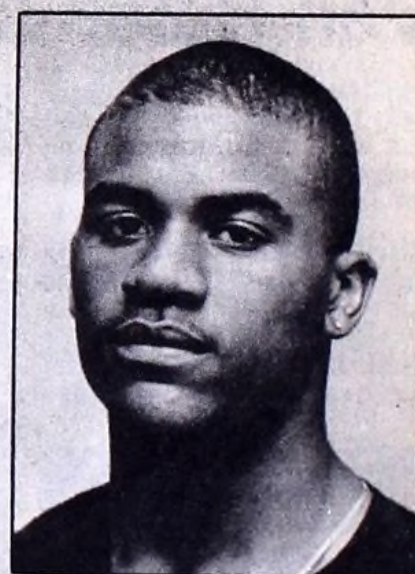

Orr, a 6-3, 180-pound all-around athlete, batted .403 for Coach Jerome Orr's Vikings. His 19 RBIS led the team, and the Inkster slugger also accounted for four triples and five doubles.

"He's just one outstanding athlete who will make it in any college," said the Viking coach about his shining star.

Orr is the lone Viking player to be nominated by the SAC coaches for first team honors. Inkster finished the 1990 campaign with an 8-10 conference and 8-12 overall record.

Off of this year's team, Coach Orr will lose five players to graduation.

"This team gave me 110 per-

Tyron Orr

cent - and I was pleased with their efforts," Orr said. "We're going to have to give some replacements to patch up the holes created by graduation, but I feel we are going to be able to do so."

The Vikings also placed to other notables on the second team SAC all-conference. Pitcher Wesley Lawrence and outfielder Bernard Reeves were nominated to the lineup.

The SAC also consists of Highland Park, the only Class A school in the league; River Rouge, Willow Run, Ecorse, Oak Park and Dearborn Heights Robichaud.

Long to appear at basketball camp

Grant Long, former Romulus High cage great and presently a member of the Miami Heat in the National Basketball Association, will be a guest speaker at the inaugural Romulus Basketball Camp.

The camp will be conducted June 18 and will run through June 22.

Long earned all-state basketball recognition while at Romulus, then went on to star for Eastern Michigan University and was drafted by the Miami Heat two years ago.

Joining Long in the speakers' lineup is Ben Braun, EMU head coach.

Camp participants will receive instructions in the fundamentals of basketball. They will also receive a Romulus camp T-shirt.

Romulus places 4 players on elite baseball team

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Although they placed behind three other clubs in the final South Central Conference baseball standings, Romulus placed four players on the 1990 all-conference team.

The team is selected by the coaches of the league, comprised of Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor Pioneer, Ann Arbor Huron, Adrian, and Romulus.

Led by Ken Blevins, the recipient of the Most-Valuable-Player award at Romulus High, Coach Don Foley and the Eagles were also represented on the team with Eddy Tank, Ed King, and Steve Honeycutt.

"We made some strides this year in our program," said Foley, who completed his first year as head coach, "and I believe we are heading in the right direction. The players who were named to the all-conference team deserved the recognition. They are outstanding players."

Blevins, a 6-1, 185-pound senior finished with a .368 batting average. He swatted three home runs, four doubles and compiled 15 runs batted in.

Blevins is also described as one of the finest first basemen that "has ever played for Romulus."

Tank, an infielder, wrapped up his junior campaign hitting .383. He had five doubles and 20 RBI as well. He also turned in a pair of three-hit pitching performances, fanning 45 in the 42 2/3 innings he worked on the mound.

"Tank was the workhorse of this team," Foley commented. "He came through for us in clutch situations. We're looking forward to having him in our lineup next year."

King, a centerfielder-pitcher, had a .304 year at the plate, and his efforts earned him the Romulus Senior Award. He hammered three homers, a triple and five doubles which accounted for 16 RBI. He also turned in a 2-1 record on the mound, posting two two-hitters for the season.

Honeycutt batted .406 in the conference and .347 on the overall season. He had a pair of home runs, a triple and five doubles which helped produce 17 runs batted in.

"He gave us nothing but his best and, obviously, the coaches in the league were impressed by his efforts. Steve was often brilliant on defense."

Honeycutt handled the third base chores during the 1990 campaign.

championship in the last decade.

Close for five innings, Belleville put the Pioneers away in the sixth and seventh innings when the Tigers exploded for a total of five runs. They tallied twice in the sixth to take the lead for good, 4-3. They added three insurance runs in the seventh.

Pioneer scored first, collecting a run in the opening frame. But Belleville managed to tie the score in the top of the second. However, Pioneer again edged forward, 2-1, and, after the Tigers tied it at two-all in their fifth, Pioneer again came back to cut the knot, 3-2.

The final two frames decided the issue in Belleville's favor.

Linda Pasek and Marcy Korgal led the Tigers' assault on losing pitcher Leigh Powers, who gave up six hits, struck out four and walked three.

Pasek and Korgal each had two hits and two runs batted in.

head coach. "We only lose Marcy (Marcy Korgal, senior infielder) so things should look good for us next year."

Belleville also placed four players on the annual Wolverine 'A' all-conference team. Korgal, along with infielder Linda Pasek, and outfielders Keshia Wilson and Kelly Rochon were selected to the coveted team by the coaches in the league.

League affiliates also include: Wayne Memorial, Wyandotte, Trenton, Lincoln Park, Fordson, Monroe, and Southgate Anderson.

Festival to display classics

By BARBARA GOFFMAN
ANP Automotive Writer

Classic car enthusiasts should keep Saturday, June 23 open. Between 100 and 150 classics will be on display at "A Day In The Park," a festival to be staged at Van Buren Park in conjunction with the Belleville Area Strawberry Festival and Van Buren Township. It will run from 11 a.m. until 7 p.m. The Ypsi Street Rods and Mitch Ryder, Strawberry Jam and The Larados will be entertaining throughout the day.

"It's going to be high school days again for 50-year-olds," said George Speaks, coordinator of the car show and a member of the Midnight Cruisers, a Belleville car club.

"There will be a lot of old cars, the majority from the '50s and '60s. The cars will coincide with the time period of the music. It will be just like going back to school, to the sock hop," he said.

Cars from the 1930s through the 1970s will also be shown, said Speaks. There will be antiques, street rods, customs and classics. Some 1991s will be on display as well.

Dr. Ed Morris of Van Buren Township will be there with his reproduction of a 1923 Ford, weather permitting.

"The car has lots of chrome on the engine and a unique, older paint job done by a fellow who called himself Yosemite Sam. He did airbrush work 20 years before anyone else did. He is famous for these wild, intricate flair paint jobs. You don't see too many Yosemite Sam paint jobs around anymore," said Morris.

Ed Memering from Belleville will have his 1951 Mercury at the show too.

"It's a radical custom," said the owner. "It's been chopped, has a Chevrolet subframe with a V8 and bubble skirts. It's been lowered; it sits about two inches off the ground. It also has a flame paint job. You have to see it; the car really can't be described."

Evert Ebler's hot pink 1950 Ford and Rod Rice's 1950 Mercury will be at the show too. The cars on display will be from private owners throughout the state of Michigan as well as from southern Canada.

Tickets to the day-long event cost $15 and are available at Ticketmaster and at Rhythms in Van Buren Plaza. Five thousand tickets are available. Any not sold by the 23rd will be available at the park.

This reproduction of a 1923 Ford is just one of the classic automobiles that will be on display at A Day in the Park.

The 1990 Allante is a two-seater that can go from 0 to 60 mph in eight seconds. 130 mph is the estimated top speed of the car.

Allante paces Grand Prix

Race car lovers can look forward to the CART/Indy car race which will go through the streets of Detroit this Sunday. There, a specially-prepared 1990 Cadillac Allante will serve as pace car for the race.

Developed jointly by Cadillac and PPG, the two-seat Allante is equipped with a modified Cadillac tuned-port-fuel injection V8 engine that is transverse-mounted with a five-speed manual transmission. The engine develops more than 300 horsepower. The suspension has been modified with heavier damping rates.

The street version of the Allante is powered by a 4.5 liter V8 engine, also tuned-port-fuel injected, that delivers 200 horsepower and can go from 0 to 60 miles per hour in eight seconds.

The roadster's top speed is estimated at more than 130 mph, according to Vince Muniga, a Cadillac representative.

The 1990 model also is equipped with a Traction Control system that helps reduce wheelspin during acceleration and offers improved performance and vehicle stability during slippery road conditions, said Muniga.

Other features of the car include a new Phase II top, made for easy removal, a retuned chassis made to match the high speed capabilities, high-performance forged aluminum 16-inch wheels and tires, a stronger transaxle and a three mode automatically adjusting shock absorber system, said Muniga.

"With a drag coefficient of .35, the Allante is extremely quiet. Even with the top down at highway speeds of 65 mph, passengers can enjoy normal conversation," he said.

Sales have been doing well, according to Bill Collins, sales manager at Don Massey Cadillac in Plymouth.

"We've gotten a lot of compliments from the public. The Allante has an excellent suspension package. It's also quite a bit cheaper than the Mercedes Benz 500 SL, which is what it is compared with. You can buy two Allantes for what you would spend on one Mercedes," he said.

The public can see the Allante in action this Sunday at the Detroit Grand Prix.

All-time favorite cookies

Just Desserts
Sue Willett

Sue Willett of Just Desserts fame is feeling under the weather today, so the following are some of her all-time favorite cookie recipes which we found hidden in the depths of her filing cabinets.

Hope you feel better soon.

Apricot squares

- 1 cup flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup butter, soft
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1 tablespoon milk
- 12-ounce jar apricot preserves
- 1/8 pound melted butter
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 cup coconut
- 1 beaten egg

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt. Add butter, egg and milk. Beat until smooth. Pat mixture into 10-by-15-inch pan. Spread thin. Spread apricot preserves on dough. Top with melted butter, sugar, coconut and egg mixture. Bake approximately 25 minutes at 325 degrees until top and bottom are golden. Cool in pan before cutting into small squares.

Raspberry-walnut shortbread bars

- 1 1/4 cups sifted flour
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup butter
- 1/3 cup raspberry jam
- 2 large eggs
- 1/2 cup brown sugar, packed
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 2 tablespoons flour
- Pinch salt
- 1/8 teaspoon baking soda
- 1 cup walnuts, chopped

Combine one and one-fourth cups flour and a half-cup sugar. Cut in butter until mixture is like fine meal. Press over bottom of lightly-greased nine-inch square baking pan. Bake for 20 minutes at 350 degrees, just until edges become brown-tinged. Remove from oven and spread raspberry jam over the shortbread. Beat eggs with brown sugar and vanilla until well blended. Stir in the two tablespoons flour mixed with salt and baking soda, then walnuts. Spoon over jam and spread lightly to corners of pan. Return to oven and bake 20 to 25 minutes longer, until top is set. Cool in pan, then cut into bars.

Butter pecan turtle cookies

- Crust: 2 cups flour
- 1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 1/2 cup sweet cream butter softened
- 1 cup whole pecan halves not chopped
- Caramel layer: 2/3 cup sweet cream butter
- 1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 1 cup milk chocolate chips

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. In three-quart mixer bowl combine crust ingredients. Mix at medium speed, scraping sides of bowl often, until well-mixed and particles are fine (two to three minutes). Pat firmly into ungreased 13-by-nine-by-two-inch pan. Sprinkle pecans evenly over unbaked crust. Prepare caramel layer (see instructions below); pour evenly over pecans and crust. Bake near center of 350-degree oven for 18 to 22 minutes or until entire caramel layer is bubbly and crust is light golden brown. Remove from oven. Immediately sprinkle with chips.

Carol Ann Luelleman

Carol Ann Luelleman is on constant lookout for recipes. She hunts them down in magazines, newspapers and every cookbook she can add to her growing collection.

"I'll look at the ingredients, and I'll be able to tell whether I like it," the Canton Township woman said. "Anything with chocolate I love."

Luelleman said she began her search nearly 25 years ago when she first married.

"I've got recipes all over the place," she said, pulling out a file of clippings strictly for desserts.

"One of my favorites is French silk pie."

Luelleman said she found the recipe more than two years ago in The Associated Newspapers. (The recipe is below in a repeat appearance).

"My daughter went to Baker's Square and said, 'Mom, your French silk pie is just as good if not better than theirs.'"

The secret, Luelleman said, is following the recipe directions to the last detail.

"Do exactly what it says. Beat it 10 minutes. That's what makes it real fluffy, smooth and creamy," she said.

When she makes the pie crust, Luelleman borrows a recipe from her mother. It calls for ice water, the colder the better.

Actually, Luelleman said, it was her mother who built her interest in cooking. This is a woman who eats a meal in a restaurant and duplicates it at home within a few tries.

"My mother is an excellent cook," she said.

When Luelleman was 13, her 4-H club sponsored a cooking contest at Greenfield Village.

"When our leader suggested I enter, my mother and I started going through recipes."

Luelleman's orange nut bread entry took first place.

It was not until 1988 when she competed again by entering the 1988 Associated Newspapers Holiday Cookbook contest. History repeated itself. Luelleman won first prize for her harvest bread recipe.

Luelleman said cooking will always be a passion of her's - she loves food. But in recent years she has modified her cooking style to fit in with a full-time career. Luelleman is property officer for the Canton Township police.

"Since I work, most of the recipes I make are quick and easy," she said. "I use a lot of shortcuts."

One of the easiest ways to save time, she said, is to start recipes one night in advance. Spaghetti sauce lends itself well to this method. Luelleman browns the meat and combines the ingredients at night. The following day she leaves them in a crock pot to simmer until meal time.

Casseroles can be made the same way, she said.

"I think they taste better the second day. It's like goulash. I never eat it the first day."

Luelleman said she would never complain about her busy schedule. It's what she always wanted.

"I raised four children, and I have one grandchild, 16 months old," she said proudly. "I love it. I love being a grandmother."

And Luelleman's granddaughter can expect an endless stream of goodies from Grandma, who has no intention of ending her search for recipes.

French silk pie

- 1 stick butter, room temperature
- 1 tablespoon vanilla
- 3/4 cups sugar
- 2 squares unsweetened chocolate melted and cooled
- 2 eggs

Beat the butter, vanilla, sugar and chocolate together thoroughly and then add one egg. Continue beating five full minutes. Add second egg. Continue to beat for another full five minutes. (Don't give up. Go the full minutes. It really is worth it). Pour filling into a baked pie crust. Top with whipped cream and some chocolate curls. Chill thoroughly and serve.

Chocolate trifle

- 1 package devil's food cake mix
- 1/2 cup strawberry preserves
- 1 cup sliced strawberries
- 1 4-ounce container whipped topping
- 1 package chocolate fudge mousse mix
- 1/4 cup toasted almonds

Prepare cake as directed on package; cool completely. Cut cake into halves (freeze one-half for future use). Cut remaining half into one-inch pieces. Arrange half of the pieces in a three-quart glass serving bowl. Spoon one-quarter cup preserves over pieces; sprinkle with a half-cup strawberries. Spread with one cup whipped topping. Repeat with remaining cake pieces, preserves, strawberries and whipped topping. Refrigerate until chilled. Prepare mousse mix as directed on package; spread over trifle. Sprinkle with almonds; if desired, garnish with whole strawberries. Cover and refrigerate at least four hours.

Cherry pudding squares

- 20 squares graham crackers
- 1/3 cup melted margarine
- 8-ounce carton sour cream

Larados perform locally

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

A bit of nostalgia will be featured in Van Buren Park when the Larados - formerly the Reflections of the '50s and '60s - perform with Mitch Ryder at the June 23 Strawberry Jam.

The all-day event, sponsored by the Belleville Area Strawberry Festival Committee, is slated on the Saturday following the annual three-day festival.

If one remembers the high school sock hops, saddle shoes and records like the multi-million release, Just Like Romeo and Juliet, than one should remember the group that recorded it - The Reflections.

"Due to the incredible resurgence of that era in the 1980s, the Larados represent the 50's and '60s with their very existence," said radio personality Fred Brian. "They are not just another marketing play to capitalize on the fad. They are living legends - the Deacons of Doo Wopp."

Although their hair may be a little grayer or thinner, the Larados still carry on their specialized brand of "doo wopp harmony that brought them fame three decades ago.

Members of the band are baritone Gary Banovetz, who organized the original Larados in high school in 1955. He molded their stage presence and harmony patterns after the Motown rhythm and blues groups of the era, and later became instrumental in reorganizing the present Larados in 1977. Other members of the group are John Dean, bass; Tom Hust, first tenor; Tony Micale, lead tenor, and Bernie Turnbull, second tenor.

Dean always found his deep, bass voice in demand by street-corner groups in his youth. He joined the Del Prados in 1956, and in 1961 joined the Reflections, with whom he recorded and toured. First tenor Tom Hust also began his career with street-corner groups. He sang with the Premiers in 1956 and moved on to the Lorados in 1957. Hust serves the group as writer and arranger, as well as a singer.

The musical portion of the June 23 event will begin at noon with the appearance of the winner of the Battle of the Bands. The Lorados will perform at 2 p.m. and Mitch Ryder will take the stage at 5 p.m.

Tickets, at $15 each, are available in advance at Ticketmaster locations and Chartbuster Video, in Van Buren Plaza.

Van Buren Park is located on the I-94 Service Drive, near Rawsonville Road, west of the city of Belleville.

TRAVEL

Travel tips for the family

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

Traveling is a pleasant adventure, but, even the best-planned vacation requires some adjustments on the part of the traveler to make it successful.

Gary Sampson, owner of Adventure Travel, in Belleville, passed along the "Commandments of Travel" to visitors at the Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce-sponsored Business Connection.

First, and foremost, Sampson advised, "thou shalt not expect to find things as thou hast them at home, for thou has left thy home to enjoy new experiences."

This and other "thou shalt" will put tourists in a proper perspective to enjoy their vacations and avoid letting little irritations spoil an otherwise pleasant holiday, Sampson said.

Among the bits of travel advice, shared by the Belleville travel agent are:

- Thou shalt not take anything too seriously, for a carefree mind is the beginning of a happy vacation;

- Thou shalt not let other tourists get on thy nerves, for thou art paying good money to have a good time;

- Thou shalt not worry, for he that worrieth has no pleasure;

- Thou shalt not judge the people of a country by one person with whom thou has trouble, and always remember that thou art a guest in every land, and

- Thou shalt not make thyself too obviously American. When in Rome, do somewhat as the Romans do.

In addition, the travel agent advises tourists to learn to say "thank you" in any language, or at least give a genuine smile - understood in every language and dialect. Also, if possible, learn to make change in the currency of the country you are visiting to avoid being short-changed or cheated.

Lastly, Sampson said, when traveling in a foreign country "remember thy passport, for a man without a passport is a man without a country."

Sailing

Romulus residents Mr. and Mrs. William Lumpkin recently returned from a luxurious cruise aboard the MS Caribe. The ship, one of the Commodore Cruise Line, sailed out of Biscayne Bay visiting ports of Ocho Rios, Jamaica, Georgetown, Grand Cayman Islands, Cozumel and Playa del Carmen.

LUCERNE PICTUREBOOK CITY

If you visit Switzerland, do not miss the picturebook city of Lucerne. Situated on the shore of the majestic Lake Lucerne at the foot of the Alps, Lucerne embodies all that is traditionally Swiss; antique covered footbridges, an International Music Festival, daring cable car ascents to Alpine peaks, flower-decked fountains and squares.

Lucerne is a city that tempts you to linger for hours in the shops of the old city, to spend an entire day in the marvelous Werksmuseum. This is the Swiss transport museum that is considered one of the most fascinating attractions in Europe. Don't miss it!

If you are looking for some excellent purchases in Europe, don't forget that Switzerland offers the cheapest prices in Europe for other countries' clothing, notably the Italian and French well-known labels. Lucerne is Switzerland at its best in all respects.

Swiss Rail Passes offer an efficient and economical way to travel throughout the country offering unlimited travel on the Swiss Federal Railways for as little as $125 for eight days of second class travel to $300 for one month of first class travel.

1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup coarsely chopped walnuts

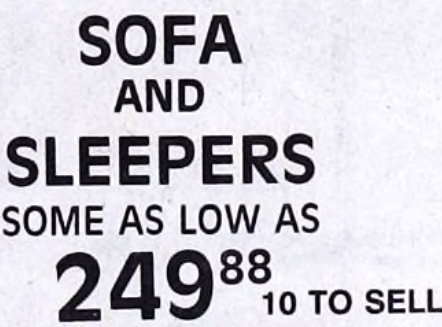

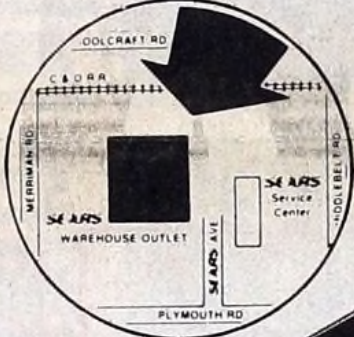

4 squares unsweetened chocolate
1/2 cup butter or margarine
2 cups sugar
4 eggs, beaten
1 cups sifted flour

Melt chocolate and butter together over hot water. Cool slightly. Gradually add sugar to eggs, beating thoroughly after each addition. Blend in chocolate mixture. Stir in flour. Then add vanilla and nuts. Spread in greased nine-inch square pan. Bake in slow oven (325 degrees) approximately 40 minutes. Cool in pan. Cut into squares. Makes two dozen brownies.

For bottom layer melt together first three ingredients and pour into nine-by-13-inch pan. Chill well. Make filling by blending margarine and milk. Beat in powdered sugar, pudding powder and vanilla. Spread over bottom layer. Melt together another layer of chocolate chips, butterscotch chips and peanut butter. Fold in salted peanuts. Spread over filling. Chill and cut into bars.
